Pure Robbery

In a speech made in Portland, Oregon, Congressman Ralph W. Quinn of New York, said: "What we have in this country today is a 'Robin Hood' view of life, and it is a program which is pure exploitation, pure robbery and pure rationalization. Robin Hood robbed the merchants to give to the poor. He was distributing the 'take' among the poor, but you notice he always robs an excellent horse and had a well-equipped retinue—After we have exhausted the rich man, the corporate man, the creative group, then will come the working man."

The apathy with which the public regards the sorry financial mess our government is in is one of the worst current signs. We have a national debt of more than $250,000,000,000. We also have very large government tax revenues, due to high employment and business activity. Yet we will run a deficit of $4,000,000,000 or more during this fiscal year—and if some of the big spending "social welfare" schemes which were tabled by Congress last session are approved during the next, future deficits will probably be far larger.

Any economist will tell you that we have just about reached the limit in getting money out of the corporations and the wealthy people—they are taxed to the hilt now. If more tax revenue is needed, the man of small and moderate means will have to provide it. It is that man who has the greatest interest in cutting every available expense in government, and returning to fiscal sanity.

The Robin Hood idea will eventually bankrupt us all.

Dear Sir:

The strategy being followed by the Smathers-for-Senator campaign and the claims that are being made continue to amaze thinking people. Can a definite stand be taken by anyone in this campaign on the basis of Smathers' claims until he has answered in his own mind and to his conscience's satisfaction the following questions:

(1) How can it be said that Claude Pepper is pro-communism to the extent that he is endangering the security of this country, when—

(a) In July, 1945, he voted for the Bretton Woods International Monetary agreement—

(b) In May, 1946, he voted for the British Loan—

(c) In March, 1948, he voted for the European Recovery Program designed to stop the march of European communism.

(d) He voted for the Military Aid bill in September, 1949.

(e) In every instance has supported to the fullest extent the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and the RCA in their work against Communism in Europe.

Can it be said that Smathers is truly honest in his assertions of a break with Pepper's way of thinking in 1945 in view of the letters in Smathers' handwriting that have since come to light? Or can we be more honest and say that his present harping on the FEPC and the Communist vein is strictly a matter of political expediency?

These above matters are of record. There is one matter of vital importance that is not of record—but which should be. Prior to the Administration's change of policy toward Russia following the Yalta Conference, Yalta AND I, the American people, during the war and immediately following had followed a policy of first, thinking that we could get along with Russia and second, trying by conferences and otherwise to find a happy meeting ground. It seems that we, the people, are trying to clear our conscience of being the suckers that we were being taken in by Russian expediency, which policy vacillates according to the situation at hand and in turn condemning our Senator for following the administration and public policy. Let's face the facts. During the war and immediately after the war, it was the policy of this government to be SUCKERS and Russia. Only Winston Churchill, among all the world's statesmen warned of what was to come after the war and pleaded for political as well as military considerations in the planning of the World War II campaign.

Shall we purge from public life all of those, who like ourselves were granted to Russia for her magnificent contribution to the Allied cause in our valiant struggle against the Nazi and who tried to carry out the Roosevelt ideal of saving peace and good along with Russia after the War? If we were to do so we would be unable to elect anyone to represent us and we certainly would not be able to vote for George Smathers, who who has been running for Congress in 1946 opposed Cannon for being a Republican isolationist and said, "I'm grateful for the part Russia played in the war—we have had to work with Russia, and all the nations of the world, if we're going to work out a satisfactory peace."

Pepper's platform is liberal and his position on all matters is well-known. What are Smathers' views and what is his platform besides a demagogic appeal on racial, communistic and other external problems.

It behooves us all to do some sound thinking before arriving at too biased a standpoint on any issue connected with us in these times of change and upheaval.

Respectfully yours,

An Honest Editor To Understand The Intricate Cookings Of The Pepper Mind.

Some of you, you say, stick with Pepper. Judging from intercourses and performances, the senator seems no little inclined to favor the side of the communies.

In his little to answer Smathers' attack, on his attitude toward communism, he offers a rather lame defense. A man of seemingly brilliant intellect, a skillful opponent in debate, he followed a policy of first, thinking that we could get along with Russia and second, trying by conferences and otherwise to find a happy meeting ground. It seems that we, the people, are trying to clear our conscience of being the suckers that we

Stalin, his many and intelligent speeches before communist organizations, he strengthened communist and helped greatly to discredit the foreign policy of our country.

Suppose he had been a Russian citizen and thus expressed his policy against his country while living there? His defense, "we thought we could live in peace with Russia, but as soon as I found out we could not I advocated every means I could think of to strengthen our country against them." We judge the present by the past. Stalin's past should have told Pepper there could be no peace.

Russia's policy has never varied. I quote a few excerpts from an editorial from the Saturday Evening Post concerning a report written a hundred years ago by the Marquis de Custine, a seasoned traveler and commentator on human nature, who when he left France, believed his country's future was bound with that of the Russians.

In Russia secrecy prevails over everything. Nothing can be seen there alone. A native of the country is always with you. Officially he is a guide and protector; nevertheless I see him as a disguised spy. There is no unity in the government. Nor is this country in historical truth any more than the sanctity of others.

The Political and national church has neither moral nor spiritual life. Human life is a small matter. The roads are again covered with exiles. No population is sure of preserving its territory. Russia sees Europe as a prey. There results from such a social organization (as the Russian) a fever of enmity so violent; a stretch of mind towards mankind so constant, that the Russian people will need become incapable of anything except the conquest of the world.

The domination of Russia when confining itself to diplomatic effort, without proceeding to actual conquest, appears to me that which is most to be dreaded by the world. (In how many respects does all this differ from reports on Russia and the Russians written in 1946?)

It would be well if the senator would sometimes make himself familiar with some of the Editorial contents of the paper. He could thereby acquire a portion of Southern policies. He is a supporter of Truman doctrine, who if his policies are carried into effect, will in the end make a police state of our South and bankrupt any nation in the world. Pepper's voting and his speeches are recorded in the congressional record. He can't get away from it. He interprets speeches before in a way which is not the way in which he prides of Stalin; his record of voting for measures which are inimical to the South should make every voter take deep and earnest thought before giving his support to one who has drifted so far away from the cherished policies of our beloved country.

BOY SCOUT EXEC'S BEGIN MONEY DRIVE NEXT WEEK

Leaders from Scouting executive committees throughout BSA South Glades District are expected to gather here next Tuesday morning. Occasion will be a "seed" breakfast signaling commencement of a drive during the next two or three weeks to get funds necessary for the operation of Scouting activities. Officers heading the Boy Scouts of America receive pay from funds built up through contributions of public-spirited citizens. Two leaders from Belle Glade are Tom Bregger, Chairman of South Glades District, Gulf Stream Council and Ed Lively, Finance Chairman for the district.

The drive in this district, held annually, seeks the financial support that maintains the Scout camps attended by troops from the Glades. One is Camp Osborne for white Scouts; the other is for colored.

Bregger and Lively call attention to the fact that two white troops, a colored troop and cub packs are active in Belle Glade. These units have benefitted in time past from trips to the camps and plan to do so in the future.

Stock Disease Program In Mexico Is Example Of Pan-American Idea

Of major interest to livestock raisers in Florida and all other states is the great cooperative campaign being waged against foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico by the United States and Mexico.

Although eradication of this destructive disease from Mexico is a relatively long time off, cattlemen and other livestock producers of this country and Mexico are encouraged over the reports of progress against it. Thousands of affected animals have been destroyed and millions have been vaccinated in efforts to wipe out the disease in Mexico, and sure, steady progress is now being made. Destruction of affected animals, vaccination, quarantine, and disinfection have enabled the campaign workers to "clean up" many sections in Mexico, and the work is gaining momentum through technique and methods developed since it got under way.

School Enrollment And The Census
The census enrollment in the 1950 Census has reflected a decade in which a World War interrupted the education of millions, and in which the post-war period brought about a high rate of population increase. It is estimated that the Census this year will show an enrollment of about 21 million for elementary schools, and approximately 10 million for high schools. The 1940 Census reported a school enrollment of 25,252,235, or 71 percent of the population between the ages of 5 and 19. School enrollment in the 1950 Census should really play an important part.

are trimming, braid, beads, brooches, lace.
We have shown the importance of planning our clothes as well as our home furnishings. Here we emphasize the materials used in making a garment. Fashionable and beautiful. Fashion determines what is to be worn and what not to be worn. However, it is generally conceded that for morning wear, dressy, calico, percale, pinpoint, gingham and soft prints. For simple afternoon wear, pinpoint, white or delicate color in batiste, dimity, dotted swiss, handkerchief linen and other school or business wear in number, rami, linen, Indian head, poplin, tulle, jersey, polka, pet, willow, poplin, tulle and fallie are used. For formal evening wear always use bright and light colors, while or black in tulle, satin, crepe, meter. Satin is used much now for formal and wedding gown. Let us remember that careful buying depends upon the purpose for which the material is being used as well as for whom it is to be used. Buying a cheap material is extravagant. It will not wear well and will soon have to be replaced. Remember to select the proper material for the article under consideration. Next week: Home Furnishings.

Pepper Defends Liberal Policies

Senator Claude Pepper pointed out this week to a home building boom and bright economic prospects "as definite proof" that the liberal policies of Roosevelt democracy are bringing this nation the greatest prosperity it has ever known.

Pepper said official statistics show that more new homes were started in March than in any previous month in the nation's history.

This great boom in home building and the other signs of national prosperity are a direct result of the Roosevelt policies which I have steadfastly supported ever since I first went into the senate 14 years ago," he declared.

The main principle of these policies is to keep the purchasing power of the people at high levels. I believe in the middle and lower runs of the economic ladder have the money to buy the things they need for themselves and their families."

FLORIDA POLITICS ARE ANALYZED BY MCGILL IN SATURDAY EVE POST

Representative Geo. Smith's chances of defeating Senator Claude Pepper in the coming primary are analyzed in the current (April 22) issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, writing under the title "Can He Purple Pepper?" says that political experts generally agree that Smith has a "solid opportunity to weather the expert campaigning of the left-wing, long-in-office Pepper."

Discussing the issues between the two, McGill lists the Taft-Hartley Law, social security expansion and the compulsory health-insurance bill.

Labor has attacked Smith for his vote for the Taft-Hartley Law, McGill points out, but Smith has not wanted to destroy Labor. I voted against the original Hartley bill, and I will vote to amend this one where needed.

But we need a labor law, McGill continues. "Smith's support of the Taft-Hartley Law was bolstered by the local coal strike and allowed him to say in his campaign that, whether labor or business becomes too big and too powerful, we obviously need legislation to curb either, pointing to the antitrust laws, to the Wagner Act and to the Taft-Hartley legislation, as illustrations."

McGill points out that Senator Pepper advocates continued expansion of social security and welfare programs, "despite the fact," he says, "that Pepper also supports the Townsend Plan and calls for a national sales tax to support it."

Smith calls this appeal to elderly people a "crust deception," McGill reports, adding:

"He insists that we must keep the money sound and not expand social security until we can pay for it, lest all pensions and security blow out the window of inflation."

Vegetable Growers' Meeting A Success, County Agent Says

Many questions pertaining to vegetable production were answered at a growers' forum meeting in the State Farmers' Market here recently, according to County Agent R. E. Lawton.

Sixty growers attended the meeting and stood an examination on crop diseases and pests, asked questions about vegetable varieties, pest control, fertilization, and other problems, and obtained much information on crop production in general.

A special feature of the meeting was a display of crop specimens attacked by root-knot, root-knot, die-back, white-mold, blight, mosaic, blossom end rot, fusarium wilt, and other diseases. Each attending grower examined the specimens and wrote down his opinion of the diseases or conditions affecting them, and his list sheet was checked with the correct answers. Prizes contributed by local concerns were awarded two growers getting the highest number of correct answers.

After the examination the growers asked many questions about crops, and the answers were given by a panel which included Dr. F. S. Jamison, W. D. Hogan, Dr. W. N. Slosser and Robert A. Conover, all of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. E. Myers of the USDA plant pathologist station.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by County Agent Lawton and R. E. Pryor and District Agent Frank S. Perry of the Extension Service.

Fla. Veg Market High In Spite Of Varied Weather

In spite of varied and most unusual weather changes during the past six or eight weeks Florida spring vegetables continue to move in heavy volume to the Nations consuming markets. Frost and cold winds caused some loss, but generally the crop damage was light and some markets are reporting steady increases in volume.

William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets reported in his weekly review of market conditions today:

"Marketing of strawberries through the Starke State Farmers' Market should reach substantial volume shortly, according to Manager R. B. Alvarez. Demand the past week was good and prices to growers high and satisfactory."

The spring tomato movement through the Fort Pierce market is expected to reach 100,000 bushels during the current week, according to Manager M. W. Williams. The demand for cucumbers remains good on this market with prices steady; 5,000 crates are expected to move this week with 3,000 to 3,500 bushels of fine quality California Wonder Peppers available toward the end of the week.

The bean movement over the Pompano market is practically over, Manager J. L. Warren reports, though a heavy movement of pepper, squash and eggplant continues. Lima bean volume has practically doubled with more than 10,000 hampers offered during the past week. Most items were in volume with prices under the previous week. Sweet corn, okra and tomato volume showed an increase. Other items offered were flat pepper, okra and field peas. In case of 18,000 bushels of sweet corn moved out of this market during the past week.

"According to Manager Frank E. Connor the Wauchula Market area has suffered the worst growing season ever, except for the drought followed by the long continued drought from early Fall until late March, then the wet, with frosts and high cold winds, the growers have endured under hardship. In spite of this, however, they are pinning their faith in the young cucumber field and hope for a fair season. Cucumber volume last week exceeded 2,000 bushels, a sharp contrast to the 10,000 bushels handled during the same period last year. Prices, however, are high, averaging $2.25 bushel, with the high reaching $3.50.

Cold did very little harm to tomatoes of which a good crop is anticipated, and the excellent quality appears the best produced there in years. Other commodities increasing in volume are pepper, eggplant, beans, and two varieties of squash. A total of 3,222 packages the past week brought growers $24,365.48.

The Spring deal on the Florida City Market is on the way out. Manager C. S. Phillips reports the auction and inspection services discontinued this week, though the volume of tomatoes, beans, and squash will continue for a few weeks. Approximately 30,000 bushels of tomatoes during the last 5-day auction brought growers in excess of $120,000. Tomatoes averaged $4.02 per bushel with a high of $7.90.

Volume continues increasing on the Plant City Market. Manager R. E. Johnson advises 17,440 packages moved last week at a gross revenue of $97,149.55. Making up this total were three varieties of beans: Green corn, cucumbers, okra, two varieties of peas, squash, pepper, potatoes and tomatoes. Pepper and squash lead in volume, while okra lead in price, averaging $10.40. Fancy cucumbers averaged $8.30 and Pole beans, $5.95.

Manager Sandy Anderson reports good demand and satisfactory prices on all commodities except cabbage and celery. In excess of 78,000 units moved over that market the first week in April at a valuation of $123,113.80. Frost damage in the immediate Sanford area appears negligible though disastrous frosts occurred in some areas in neighboring counties. Individual point toward heavy volume of all vegetables and fruit this week with locally grown beans, squash, peppers and corn increasing in volume.

"M. V. Meekins, Manager of Palmetto Market anticipates 1,000 to 1,500 bushels of tomatoes this week and a light supply of Pole beans and pepper. Volume in this area has been unusually slow increasing due to weather conditions. Prices on some commodities appear satisfactory with No. 1 tomatoes averaging $12.12, high $7.10. Pole beans $5.20 and fancy squash $5.50. Other items making up the 1,977 packages sold during the past week at a gross of $7,915.93 were pepper, eggplant and bush beans. All of these items will be available, some very small lots, during the current week.

"Red Bliss potatoes, celery and sweet corn are anticipated by Manager T. S. Kirk on the Pahokee Market this week."

BENEVOLENT

(Continued from Page 11) Everglades Home Loan Association. Combined, these two funds were enough to finish the present hall and the three apartments below, besides having some left over to provide an extension of the lease. To justify their belief that the long-range plan would work, a spokesman for the Benevo-

lents visits these groups which are now enjoying use of the meeting hall: Carpenters Local 10 on second and fourth Fridays, Woodmen's Circle on first and third Fridays, Order of Delamont on second and fourth Mondays, the Rainbow Girls on first and third Mondays, Free and Accepted Masons on second and fourth Tuesdays, Red Rebekah Lodge on first and third Tuesdays, Alcoholics Anonymous every Wednesday, Odd Fellows on second and fourth Thursdays, Order of Eastern Stars on first and third Thursdays, leaving only Saturdays, Sundays and fifth week nights open.

Among the gentlemen originally responsible for the plan were N. Ray Whitlock, N. T. Nielson, Halger Lyngholm, Hans Robe, Lloyd Aspey and R. M. Browne. The Association now has 15 members. Meetings are held only once a year, following the Carpenters meeting on the fourth Friday in May. A board of governors session is called each quarter. Five officers make it up at present.

The Benevolent just recently celebrated their clearing of the mortgage held for some years on their meeting hall. They ceremoniously set fire to the papers following a buffet luncheon last month.

With help from R. A. Cameron, whose family moved into one of the apartments prior to completion of the building, and from the Masons and O.E.S., who furnished the Lodge Room, the Association members finally realized their goal.

Insurance must be modern, too!

Suppose you went to an automobile showroom, asked to see the new models and the salesman ushered you over to a bright and shiny contraption, glittering with brass, acetylene lights and informed you that it actually had four cylinders. Would you be interested?

Insurance policies, like the automobile they protect, have kept pace of the times. Back of the same old established company names, modernized protection has come forward to meet modern hazards, not only covering automobiles but in every requirement of property and personal need.

When you get in touch with us for any kind of insurance protection you may be sure that it will be as up-to-date as tomorrow's newspaper.
